8:00 – 8:45am Registration, Exhibits, Continental Breakfast

8:45 – 9:00am Welcome and opening remarks

Virginia Thomas, MSW, ACSW, MGA President
Pat Alt, PhD and Jane Marks, RN, MS Conference Co-Chairs

9:00 – 9:30am Maintaining Quality of Life

Barbara Resnick, Ph.D., CRNP, FAAN, FAANP - University of Maryland, School of Nursing

Optimizing health in older adults is vital to maintaining themselves in the community. Strategies and rationale to strive for optimal function, cognition and social engagement will be addressed.

9:30 – 10:30am Staying On Top of Your Health

W. Anthony Riley, MD - Medical Director of Gilchrist Greater Living; Division Head of Geriatrics at GBMC
Karin Neufeld, MD, MPH, APPN - Director of General Hospital Psychiatry, Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine

Establishing a partnership with older adults to promote health through assessment, intervention, and planning is important in primary care. Traditional office practice and creative programs that outreach to older adults for primary care will be discussed. This will include awareness and assessment strategies to identify delirium in community older adults which is often missed until a crisis presents.

10:30- 11:00am Break and Networking

11:00-12:00pm Mental Health Needs: Meeting the Challenge

Judy Simon, MS, LDN, RD - Maryland Department of Aging
Marsha Ansel, MSW, LCSW-C - Howard County CSA
Kim Vaughn, CRNP - Johns Hopkins University, Division of Geriatrics

Mental Health needs of older adults fall along a continuum, requiring an array of specialized services. This session focuses on existing programs that address prevention, early intervention, in-home needs and acute care. Program profiles will enlighten attendees to resources that may exist within their communities. Collaborative strategies to address unmet community needs will be discussed.

12:00-1:00pm

Reaching Out To the Community

Dan Hale, M.A., Ph.D. - Stetson University

Sylvia McGill, BS - Baltimore City Experience Corps Program

Stephanie Hull, BA, MSW, JD - Maryland Department of Aging

Creative community collaborations are necessary in the current economic climate. Outreach programs that incorporate innovation and outside the box thinking to effectively meet the needs of older adults will be discussed.

1:00-2:30pm

Lunch

2:30-4:00pm

Hot Topics

John Colmers, BS, MPH - Johns Hopkins Medicine

David Berman, LCSW-C - VA Home Based Primary Care

Chad Boulton, MD - Johns Hopkins University, School of Public Health

We exist in a time of change. Health care reform has the potential to radically change the standard programs and practices we have come to know and understand. This session will address some of the recent changes in health care reform and the impact of the changes on areas such as VA programs and transitions of care.

4:00pm
